B. Y. U. To Be Host At Annual Journalism Meet

Journalism students from junior colleges and high schools in three western states will assemble Saturday for an all-day session at Brigham Young University's annual Intermountain Journalism Conference, according to Prof. Ray Wight, conference chairman.

A feature of the conference will be the writing contests. Six $25 scholarships will be given to winners in the news and editorial competitions by the Deseret News and Tribune-Telegram. Well over one hundred entries have already been received.

Heading the list of visiting speakers for the meet is Dr. Sterling B. Talmage, Deseret News editor, who will address the keynote session Saturday morning in the Smith auditorium.

Bob Cutler, Deseret News promotion manager, and Jean Bickmore, Tribune special reporter, will address student editorial groups and problems of printed newspapers, while representatives from the Mimeograph-Ellephone and Multigraph agencies will speak on duplicating processes.

Yearbook staffs will also meet to hear talks on production and photography by Harrison Conover, Springville publisher, and Bob Allen, Provo photographer.

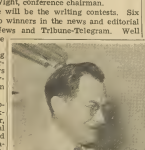

A special meeting of publications advisers will also discuss problems of production and coordination of student publications.

The afternoon meetings will be round table discussions for advisers, reporters, editors, and radio journalists.

A concluding summary and awards session will meet in the Smith auditorium at 3:20 p.m., for all conference delegates.

Exhibits of newspapers and yearbooks will be displayed in the Smith ballroom throughout the conference, and visitors will be taken through KBYU, the campus radio station, TV Press building.

Lorry Rytting, Eldon Cox, UNIVERSE editor and business manager, will conduct newspaper shop talks and discussion groups, and Banyan staff editor Ray Wight will set as chairman for the yearbook meetings.

Graduate Courses Are Open To Undergrads

Many graduate courses listed in the catalogue are available to undergraduate students wishing to register for them, according to Dr. Asahel D. Woodruff, dean of the Graduate School.

Credit from such classes will be applied toward the Bachelor's degree. Before registering, the student must secure permission to register from the instructor.

Dr. Woodruff mentioned that many students had not registered for classes available in both the Graduate division, because they were not aware that Graduate courses were open to them.

OPERA TRYOUTS TODAY

The Opera Workshop has announced that tryouts for the starring roles and chorus-es for the Workshop presentations this year will be held today, at 4 p.m., in the Smith auditorium.

Any student who desires musical experience, regardless of training, is eligible for the tryouts, and one hour of credit each quarter will be awarded to workshop members, according to Newell B. Weight, director.

Christmas Drive in Full Swing For Helping Needy Families

The campaign to provide a good Christmas for needy families in the Provo area is now underway, it was announced by the office of Dr. Ellvert H. Himes, student coordinator.

Food, toys, clothing and the other things that go to make a Merry Christmas will be provided by the students and will be distributed through state welfare workers and church officials. Students are asked to give anything that they think will help to make someone happy and will be useful to them throughout the year.

A large Christmas tree has been set up in the lobby of the Joseph Smith building, and when a group has filled its quota, a light with the name of the organization will be lighted.

Each social and service unit on campus has been given a quota to fill which will take care of one family. All independent students will be organized into groups to do their parts in this drive.

Cougar Casaba Team Leaves Tonight

Brigham Young University's basketball team, defending Skyline Six Champions, will leave tonight, at 9 p.m., for a pre-season eastern tour of six games, according to Coach Stan Watts.

The travelling crew will leave lower campus by bus for Salt Lake City, and will leave Salt Lake City by air for Buffalo at 11:30 p.m.

Lee Gives Paper At Language Meet

Dr. Harold W. Lee, associate professor of modern languages, delivered a paper on the relationship between contemporary French literature and actual life, at the annual convention of the Rocky Mountain Modern Language Association, at Laramie, Wyo., during the Thanksgiving holidays.

The membership of the association is composed of university English and foreign language teachers in seven states of the Rocky Mountain area.

In addition to his duties in the language department, Dr. Lee is serving as counselor to foreign students, and as campus Fulbright Program adviser.

Lewis Deliver Key Speech At New York Confab

George L. Lewis, assistant professor of secondary education at BYU, has been selected to make an address at the key meeting of one of the largest professional speech conventions ever assembled, to be held in New York City soon.

The last convention of this type, held in 1949, drew more than two thousand members, to Chicago. "It is a distinct honor to have been chosen to give a talk to speech educators from every part of the United States," said Arthur Eisenstadt, chairman from Rutgers University.

Mr. Lewis will speak on "Problems of Playing for Children."

The convention, which is to be held Dec. 27 to 30, is sponsored by the Speech Assn. of America, American Educational Theatre Assn., National University Extension Assn., and National Thespian Society.

Used Clothing Price of Mat Dance Admission

The Mat Dance to be held Tuesday will be sponsored by the AMS and AWS, and will benefit the Christmas drive for needy families. Instead of the usual ten cents, admission will be some article of food or clothing for the drive.

"Dig For Duds" Annual Ball Set By Gamma Tau

Gamma Tau will hold their annual "Dig for Duds" costume ball in the east lounge of the Social hall, Friday, Dec. 1, at 8 p.m.

Any wearing apparel from diapers to tuxedos is in vogue, according to Jerry Hedquist, general chairman, and his committee, Fred Adams and Charles Cox.

The "men in red" recently held their fourth birthday party at the China City Cafe. Bob Unice, one of the original six who founded the unit in 1946, was chairman. His committee was composed of Reese Gilmor, Willord Hansen, Heward Galloway, and John MacCabe.

Comments and tributes were made by the officers, Dayle Allred, J. Keith Scoville, Van MacCabe, Reid Fillmore, Bob Unice, and John MacCube.

A fine program was also presented.

HEALTH CENTER HOURS

The Brigham Young University Health Center is open twenty-four hours a day for the benefit of students. A registered nurse is on duty at the Center during the evening hours. Only emergency cases will be accepted after 9 p.m., however.

It's A Man's World . . . Preference Ball Set For This Saturday Night

For one week in the school year, it's a man's world!

Chosen by the male populace of the Brigham Young University coeds, 11 masculine specimens of the gals' "dream men" reign this week in royal splendor as Preferred Men, while the remainder of the male population hide their grief and disappointment defeated as female queen contestants must.

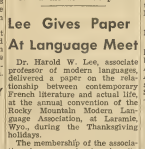

Pulling a majority of the votes cast last week is Preferred Man Benny Mortenson, Mesa, Ariz. Mortenson returned to the campus last year from a mission in Argentina, and gained recognition this year as a flashy signal-calling quarterback for the Cougar football team.

Bert Todd, Salt Lake City, appeared on campus for the first time this fall, after his return from Czechoslovakia, where he was a missionary until Communists ordered LDS officials to clear out. A Blue Key, Bert handles a campus broadcasting School class, and is a popular speaker.

Freshman Virgil Camp hails from Pocatello, Ida., and has made a name for himself in campus circles. He organized and directs the MIA choir, and is a talented singer himself.

The eight other top choices are Ron Taylor, Los Angeles; Keith Orme, Idaho Falls; Harold Christensen, Provo; Reed Benson, Salt Lake City; Roland Minson, Idaho Falls; Frank Patterson, College Park, Md.; Ed Parker, Honolulu, and Don Wilson, Midvale.

The lucky eleven were featured this morning during the AWS Preference Ball Assembly in the Smith auditorium, and will be honored at the Preference Ball, Saturday night. Preceding the annual semi-formal, the eleven men will be feted at a banquet, with AWS officers as hosts.

"GEE, AIN'T THEY PRETTY," says Lillybelle Peterson, as she looks over BYU's kings for a day, Bert Todd, Preferred Man Benny Mortenson, and Virgil Camp.

BY THE READERS

No Discrimination Meant

Dear Editor:

The biting diatribe on assemblies in general and the Val Hyric skit in particular, issued by the learned Mr. Rolfe Peterson, came to us as quite a surprise. Many of the statements made were indeed true, but as is typical of a few professors who get carried away by the sound of their own voices, Mr Peterson didn't seem to know when to quit.

Rather than hang our heads in shame for the outrage we have supposedly committed against the studentbody, Mr. Peterson, and Jews the world over, let's review the facts

First. The skit was not directed as a slam against Jews, but as a parody of the typical "big city" clothing business

If Mr. Peterson had not divided his attention between the stage and the portable radio he must have been listening to in order to hear KBYU's announcer, he would have noticed that only one of the two bargain basement characters was indicated to be Jewish. The other was Mike Miller, mongrel American—(pardon the expression). Which of the two was supposed to be proprietor was never considered

Second: Because it was believed that the skit would have no effect upon the studentbody's semitic views and even less npon those of the outside world, it was produced without too much concern for minority feelings. That it could be dangerous and incite prejudice no more occurred to us, the Val Hyric, than did your being sued for libel occur to you, Mr Peterson. Remarks such as yours when published have cost some people a great deal of money. However, I am sure we both agree that what is said and done in the campus newspaper and assemblies is more or less a family affair.

Third: As to the "youngster too provincial to know anything about the problem of the Jew in our society," I assume you were writing about the author of the skit. Unfortunately, he isn't with us to read your remarks, Mr. Peterson, nor has he ever been here. You see, much as we would like to claim credit for originality, the act was actually copied directly from a recent coast to coast television show that features as its star performer, none other than Jewish born Milton Berle

If that skit is "vicious anti-semitism," and minority, then so are the lovable shows "Life with Luigi," and "The Goldbergs," both of which get laughs from provincial characteristics. As you said, Mr. Peterson, Buchenwald was no joke, and maybe therein lies the answer. It's when people cease laughing about minorities and become serious that the troubles begin.

Sincerely,
Durian Stewart

Washers For All . . .

Have you noticed that smell in the air lately? No it's not Geneva, but the men from Wymount dorms They don't have the facilities of olden day wash women There are approximately 400 men living in the Wymount dorms and only two workable (it you can call them that) washers in the seven dorms

I attended a university last year that had dorms similar to ours that was equipped with automatic washers. One's wash could be done in 30 minutes at a cost of 10 cents These washers were supplied by a local laundry company

Wymount dorms have the piumbing necessary for these machines. I would like to see some arrangements made with a local company to supply and repair a few of these machines.

Let's get on the ball over in the Wymount dorms and get these machines or at least supply the men with wash boards After all, this is a church school that teaches us that cleanliness is next to Godliness. We are tired of breaking this fine philosophy.

Think You Got Troubles?

Frosh Blues Hit Scribe, Threatens to End it All

I don't see why everybody thinks college life is so wonderful. From what I've seen of it, It's not so hot!

My roommates pick on me They force me to make my bed every morning and to keep my books put away and to pick up my clothes They just run my life!

Last night, just to pick on me, they short-sheeted my bed and filled it with prepared cereal When I got mad and started to shout at them, that mean old dorm mother gave me an infraction for the week-end (as if I were going out anyway). My roommates don't agree with me at all.

I don't have beautiful clothes like all the other girls have either My roommate has a beautiful blue skirt and sweater set, and she won't let me borrow it. After all, why spend my money on clothes when I could borrow them from my roommates The only thing is, my roommates don't cooperate

My teachers pick on me, too! They give me homework every night, and they deliberately call on me when they know I'm not prepared I think my teachers are bunch of old stuffed shirts. I'll bet they flunk me just for spite!

People aren't friendly here at the Y at all. No one ever speaks to me as I trudge from the lower to the upper campus. Nobody seems to care whether I'm dead or alive.

You know, nohody really appreciates me but my mother If I waran't so flat broke, I'd buy a gun and shoot myself.

Leisure Is Important, Too

Do you enjoy relaxing? Do you like to putter, go out on dates, collect bottle tops or simply enjoy the feeling of ease and well being when you abandon yourself to a pet day dream?

You should!

Recent scientific surveys have turned up some pretty interesting information indicating that leisure is as important as work—and must be taken as seriously

A Dr. Samnel Lowrie at Bowling Green University discovered that "more dates mean better marks. . . frequent dating enlarges a student's interests, broadens his extra-curricular activities so that he becomes a psychologically healthier and more rounded person."

So, buckle down, fellas—not only on your school books but on the way you handle your extra-curricular activities, if you're after a happy well-adjusted and successful life!

To make certain, perhaps you'd better double check yourself on the following quiz:

1. Do you plan your time so that even under the mast hectic schednle, you get a chance for a real breather?

2. Do you have several hobbies? (They need not run to formal collections like stamps, but can inclnde girls, baseball games, nature walks!)

3. Can yon forget work problems ont on a date?

4. Are meal times filled with relaxed pleasant tastes and adventures in the enjoyment of food, or a nervous shoveling in of tasteless food?

Any reactionary professorial objections might be met with classical quotes, such as John Locke's. "He that will make a good use of any part of his life must allow a large portion of it to recreation."

5. Do yon think you know how to make yonrself relax, particularly under tension or when you're over-tired? What is your posture for relaxing?

6. Can you eat nap?

7. Can you sleep at night even when not physically exhaosted?

8. Can yon concentate as hard on a pretty girl as on your studies even though you're in the midst of exam week?

Dr William Menninger of the famed Menninger Clinic in Kansas told a conference of the National Recreation Association that well-adjusted individuals pursue a larger number of hobbies than individuals requiring psychiatric help. "There is," he explained, "scientific evidence that the healthy personality is one who not only plays, but takes it seriously."

New Way of Life Begins For Operators of Y Bookbindery

by Molly Silchi

From Germany come two captivating people who are now in charge of Brigham Young University's book bindery. They are Alfred Biehl and his pretty, petite wife, Anne Marie, who arrived in Utah only six weeks ago. Though they cannot easily communicate with those who come into the bindery, as they speak only German, their ready smiles have already made them many friends.

Mr. Biehl began book binding in Germany, as an apprentice at the age of 14. He is now a master book binder, and his work has taken him to many sections of Germany, including the northern and western parts. Before coming to America, the Biehls were living in Germany's Black Forest area, near the Swiss border.

Anne Marie Bremer met Alfred Biehl in a book bindery where they both worked before the war. Though she was a native of Bremen, she went to live with the Biehl family after the war broke out and Alfred had to go into the army. Alfred married Anne Marie when he was home on furlough in 1943. After that he successfully kept out of the Hitler Youth by his family, but he was finally drafted into the German army when he was 20. He became a combination scout, sniper, and front line infantryman.

Alfred went hungry, was wounded, and half frozen during the terrible Russian winters in Leningrad. He and his outfit were cut off by the Russians in the Lithuanian area. The fighting there was so close that every night a Russian was captured and brought in for questioning.

When the German troops were finally captured, most of them were shipped to Siberia. "I was lucky—I was wounded," says Alfred. He was wounded after the armistice had been signed, when a "war happy" Russian threw a grenade into a group of German soldiers. He was sent to a Russian-held hospital where he remained nine months. Then he was sent back to Germany to recover.

In the meantime, Anne Marie had opened a little art shop at home. Toward the end of the war, business was so bad that those who wanted trinkets had to bring the materials to her before she could make them.

When she met Alfred, walking downtown one day, he was clad only in his shorts and an army coat, with his feet bound in rags. She says, "People must have thought we were crazy. We just stood there in each other's arms crying for a long time."

After the war was over, letters were exchanged, and finally they were able to leave Germany to come to the United States under the sponsorship of Warren F. Kirk, of Pleasant Grove, and Wesley F. Knudsen of Provo, former LDS missionaries who knew the Biehls in Germany. They arrived in Salt Lake City on September 29, and were hired within a week to reopen the long-closed BYU book bindery.

The Biehls are thrilled with America, Provo, and their work. "It is a thrill to go to the store with them," Mr. Kirk says. "They marvel that a pair of shoes cost only a day's pay here."

BRICKER-O.S. TROVATA

Brickers and O.S.'s will join for their first exchange party this evening. The fete will begin at 7:00 at the boathouse. Joan Cluff, Jan Bean, Gene Tutle and Dick Hulsh are in charge of party arrangements.

BOOKBINDING is nothing new for Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Biehl, shown above at the university bindery. They are recent immigrants from Hamburg, Germany.

Patrons of the "Banyan Portrait Studio" in the Physical Science building are becoming increasingly fussy, apparently. The other day a young man posed for his yearbook picture in a bow tie. Afterward, he must have doubted the staff's ability to "do right" by him, because he left the tie, a marvelous striped creation, in their files as a reference for when the picture is developed.

Fund Drive Notice

All canvass workers are urged to complete the major part of their contacts by next Monday, Dec. 4, and turn funds in to captains. The captains will turn in to Dr. Hines' off ce, 4-5 p.m., student drive chairman Tom Gunn announced at press time.

Oregon State Tries Placement Tests In Math, Arithmetic

Something new in placement tests during recent freshman orientation week at Oregon State College included arithmetic and mathematics placement tests administered to practically all entering students. Heretofore, mathematics tests were given only to those planning to take mathematics courses.

Need for an arithmetic test for other students has become increasingly apparent, says Dallas Norton, personnel coordinator, as students have been handicapped in chemistry, business and technology and many other courses through inability to handle simple fractions. Some have been able to use algebra better than arithmetic, instructors here report.

These and other placement tests do not bar anyone from entering college but they do indicate what "tool courses" need to be taken to insure success in a student's chosen field, says Norton.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY

The American Chemical Society is sponsoring a trip to the Geneva steel mill Friday, Dec. 1. Two buses will leave the Joseph Smith building at 12:30 p.m.

A fee of 25 cents will be charged to students who wish to make the trip with the society.

social y'sers

by Betty Ann Green

Last week-end was comparatively quiet, as many students went home for the four-day Thanksgiving holiday Students who spent their time in Provo had their choice of a free dance, the football game and two basketball games

Spending the rest of their Thanksgivings together will be Frank Rencher and Marilyn Dick, who were married on the 21st, and Lynn Pinegar and Mary Walker, who exchanged vows Nov 17.

Here's some news that won't surprise anyone Monte Hickenlooper and Sue Nelson are going steady Likewise, John MacCabe and Vonda Christensen

Adding their names to the list of Y married folks are Doremis Sumpter and Hank Williams, who were married a couple of weeks ago Sally Beck and Harlan Arnold went west last week-end for a California wedding.

Weston Jones is minus his Delta Phi pin He gave it to Norma Bearnson recently.

Marilyn Grosbeck's theme is "something new has been added" since Mark Robertson parted with his Delta Phi pin in her direction.

More and more people are going steady. Two Y couples who have gotten the habit are Don Wilson and Betsy Sears and Joyce Campbell and David Wing

Going steady often leads to more permanent stuff as witnessed by Jean Anderson and Tom Oldroyd, who are now engaged and plan to be married Dec. 6

Piano Students Plan Recital Tonight

the trend of campus fashion

Grass skirts? Sarongs? No—that's not what they're wearing. Cotton's what they wear mostly. Yes, that's the trend on campuses throughout Hawaii.

Though used to cottons and other types of light clothing, it wasn't too hard for them to change, and wear heavier things. For instance, have you seen the wise reiverem that Lei Goodness is wearing? It's three-quarter length, has a belt around the waist, full length sleeves, and a turned up collar. Who says she'll be cold this winter, eh?

Speaking of coats, Nancy Takemoto is flashing her black Chesterfield, full length coat, around. Attractively fur trimmed coat, full length sleeves and little buttons down the front, makes this a very much talked about coat.

Among the things in Blossom Enos' wardrobe, are her blue gabardine suit, and lavender raincoat. Very simple but very striking, is her two-piece suit. Buttons down the front of the coat, sport like, open collar, two elongated triangular pockets on the sides of the coat and a straight slitted skirt is all that it takes. Perfect for rainy and snowy weather, is her raincoat, which runs along the same lines for simplicity. It has a hood which can be detached, peter pan collar, gold buttons on an overlapping lapel, and a plain skirt, with five inches of gathers at the waist in back.

Our hats are off to June Kobayashi. She sews most of her clothes, and her wardrobe really is a commendable one. She's made skirts, blouses, school dresses, and dress up wear, but our big interest now, is a green rayon crepe dressy dress. A wide round neckline, fitted long sleeves, skirt draped on four sides, with an extra piece down the back, from the waist down, make this dress very eye catching.

New formals are in order, as the annual Preference Ball rolls around once more. A strapless yellow satin and net formal will be seen on Neil Veirs at the dance. Yellow satin, draped and overlapping is the top, and full net and slightly hooped, makes up the skirt. A bolero of yellow satin with rhinestone trimmed, cooler collar and little buttons down the front goes with the dress.

Good for cool days, is the mustard tweed suit of Shirley Enone. Simplicity seems to be the domineering feature in our wardrobes.

ADDING NATIVE COLOR to the campus style parade are Blossom Enos and Emmanell Vieira of Hawaii, portraying the important role their group plays in the V's cosmopolitan fashion trends.

"Coke" and The Fifth "H"

CHICAGO, (INS) — Colleen Townsend, former Hollywood starlet who gave up film fame and fortune to become an Evangelist, was the guest of honor recently at a 4-H Club breakfast.

She told the winners of the club's annual canning contest that she had added a fifth "H" to her life's activities—A "Heavenly" calling that had become the most important factor in her life.

Nautilus Plan For Friday Invitational

Candies" will be highlight of the Nautilus of NLU annual invitational to be staged Friday, Dec 1, in the Joseph Smith ballroom, revealed HarMons Kirkham, Los Angeles, chairman.

Tall burning candles will be featured thematic material, said the committee head. The unique decorations are being arranged by Barbara Romney, Provo.

Music for the semi-formal will be by Wes Barry and his orchestra. Other committee chairmen are Carolyn Cox, San Gabriel, Calif., invitations; Sue Nelson, Seattle, Wash, programs; Char Matson, Los Angeles, intermission program; and Sally Kirkham, Brigham City, refreshments.

The Brigham Young University football team played a total of ten games this year, winning four, tieing one and losing five.

Cats Head East Today, Traveling Squad Named

Twelve enthusiastic Cougar cagers, intent on making a fine showing against some powerful eastern quints, will enplane late tonight along with Coach Stan Watts, athletic director Eddie Kimball, and trainer Rod Kimball on the first leg of their pre-season basketball tour.

The battle for position on the traveling squad raged furiously until the last minute. Not until after practice last night (too late for UNIVERSE deadline) did Coach Watts finally post the list of players who will make the trip.

Ten sure travelers are:

|---|---|
| Harold Christensen | guard |
| Bob Craig | guard |
| Dick Jones | guard |
| Jerry Romney | guard |
| Roland Minson | forward |
| Joe Richey | forward |
| Russell Hillman | forward |
| Mel Hutchins | center |
| Boyd Jarman | center |
| Kent Durrant | center |

A guard and a forward were picked from this group:

|---|---|
| Don Malmrose | forward |
| Ralph Olsen | forward |
| Jim Thorne | guard |
| Leon Heaps | guard |
| Harold Montgomery | guard |

When asked for a comment about what to expect from the Cats on the eastern tour, Coach Watts hopefully remarked, "The boys will make a good showing if they're playing up to par."

The Cougars will definitely have to give the best they've got to show against the teams that are listed on this year's touring slate. They tangle first with Niagara U. at Buffalo, then on to Madison Square Garden for the ultimate test against City College of New York, winner of both the NCAA and NIT tournaments last year. After this the Cats travel to Richmond, Ky., for a go at Eastern Kentucky, and climax the trip with Marshall at Huntington, W. Va.

Last year the BYU couldn't hit top form on their tour and dropped games to Beloit, Toledo, and Bowling Green before they finally hit the win column against Loyola.

COACH STAN WATTS
. . . twenty-nine to go.

Joe Horris Begins Coge Forecost Next Week

Joe Harris, whose national football forecasts have appeared regularly in the Thursday edition of the UNIVERSE, will turn his talents to the basketball scene next week.

Harris extended his gridiron predictions to all colleges playing regulation football, and ended the season this week with an average of 84 per cent correct guesses.

The casaba predictions will again be sponsored by Nate Morgan Jewelers and will begin next Thursday.

Skyline Boasts Strong Teams In Hoop League

Contrasting pleasantly with the sorrowful showing made by Utah colleges on the gridiron scene was the six-game clean-sweep made by Beehive staters in their 1950-51 basketball debuts last weekend. The Eastern contingent of the Skyline Six have yet to play for the public, but pre-season rumor has it that the prospects on that side of the mountain are just as good.

Much has been said about the Cougars, defending conference champs, so now comes the run down on the rest of the circuit.

Wyoming Towers

Wyoming, a perennial contender under the hands of Ev Shelton, took a beating from the graduation rolls, but the Cowpokes have secured a crew of skyscrapers to fill the gaps. Four men stretch over 6'6", with Bob Clements topping the list at 6' 8½".

Utah will also have a rangy ball club with Glen Smith listed as one of the most brilliant performers. The return of Jimmy Cleverly, Glen Duggins, Paul Shrum, Gordy Crofts, and some new men will bolster Redskin hopes greatly.

Veterans Abound

Denver will be a surefire conference contender with six of their last year's regulars back for more. Dale Toft, Sid Ryan, Ron Johnson, and others head the lineup.

A pair of new coaches, Cecil Baker at Utah State and Bill Strannigan at Colorado A&M, will also be tossing some tough teams into the conference chase. A good number of returning veterans will strengthen the hopes of both schools.

Such names as Anderson, Cook, and Gobbie of the Farmers, and Anderson, O'Boyle, and Jansen at A & M, will indicate the calibre of their returning material.

Newcomers Get Chance

New Mexico and Montana, although they won't be playing in league competition this year, will both show what they have to give and learn what they'll have to take when they join with the rest of the Skyliners in the pre-season tourney at Denver.

The Skyline conference, rapidly gaining a reputation for being one of the tougher conferences in the nation, will have a chance to strengthen that reputation this year, as many of the teams meet top flight competition in intersectional pre-season contests.

Cougars, Utes Draw Opener In Pre-season Cage Tourney

Pairings for the Mountain States Athletic Conference tournament, a pre-season preview of what to expect from Skyline teams, have been made by Commisioner E. L. Romney.

The tournament will be played in Denver University's new fieldhouse, December 27, 28, 29, and 30.

Brigham Young University, seeded first in the tourney by virtue of their conference championship, will clash with their traditional rivals, the University of Utah Redskins, on the opening night of the tourney. Win or lose, they will play either Denver or New Mexico, who are also in the upper bracket, on the third night of play. Their opponent for the final night will be from the other bracket which is composed of Utah State, Montana, Colorado A & M, or Wyoming.

The Cougars got off to a good start last year by clipping Idaho State in a double header, and went directly into the conference tournament, which was held in early December, and copped the title.

It wasn't as easy as it sounds, however, for after knocking over Regis 53-37 on the opening night, the Cats whipped up a slim 57-54 win from Wyoming, and squeaked past Denver 59-54 in the championship battle.

After the tourney the Cats hit a slump and six of their remaining seven pre-season games. The tournament this year will be a allmax to the pre-season slate, and Skyline action will get underway the following week.

Tomcats Annex Frosh Hoop Title

Led by the torrid shooting of Tom Karren, BY high school grad, the Tom Cats battled to a 47-45 decision over Jack Rabbits in a thrill-packed contest for the freshmen basketball tournament championship.

Dean Larsen tanked fifteen for the losers, but it wasn't enough, as Mickey Eggertsen and Tom Collins added ten and nine points, respectively for the Tom Cats.

Roster of the champions was Tom Karren, Tom Collins, Morris Jackman, Max Frandsen, Stan Gleaves, Mickey Eggertsen, Campbell, and Henderson.

In previous encounters the Tom Cats crushed the Vigilantes 64-43 and scraped past the Filthy Five 38-36.

Rex Berry Rated Fifth In Nation On Punt Distance

Rex Berry, brilliant on running and passing when the opportunity arose, but invaluable in kicking the Cougars out of the holes, continued to boot his way into the national standings this week.

According to official statistics from the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, (last Saturday's games excluded) Berry ranked fifth in the nation having punted 27 times for a 42.4 yard average. This was just one step behind Utah's Mitt Smith, who has kicked the pigskin for a 43.2 average so far this year.

Skyline schools and individuals broke into the records in a few other places as well. As a team Wyoming ranked first in total defense, having an average ot only 167.4 yards per game made against them. In total offense, Wyoming ranks fourteenth in the nation.

Utah has a team punting average of 44.3 yards that puts them second to Colorado in that division of the national ratings.

Dave Cunningham of Utah held down second place in percentage of forward passes completed, with a 54.2 per cent record, Bean of Utah was sixteenth for rushing yardage, and Cooper of Denver was third in the number of passes caught, 40.

Frosh Basketeers Sliced to Fourteen

Fourteen players who survived the first weeding of the freshman basketball team can breathe deeply again until the final slice next week, the Cougarettes holidays, according to Wayne Sotte, affable frosh mentor.

The final cut will reduce the squad to ten men, but this step will not be taken until the regular conference play begins.

Those who now constitute the roster are John Taylor, Sherman Crump, Dean Larsen, Morris Jackman, Tom Karren, Dick Deen, Loyal Iverson, Jerry Minson, Mickey Eggertsen, Neil Christiansen, Stan Gleave, Dick Cooper, Oscar Larsen, and Tom Collins.

The Cougar cubs showed finesse and power in sweeping victories over Weber Junior college and Presidio of San Francisco army team on their initial public appearance last week-end.

The Cubs will play a twin bill with Westminster Junior college when the Cougars host Indiana State at the University of Utah fieldhouse, Dec. 19 and 20.

The frosh will play preliminaries at all home games if possible, Coach Sotfe said. When the Cougars engage Utah and Utah State, the Cubs will play their respective freshman squads. When the eastern foes come to Provo, other arrangements with junior college, service, or school teams will be made.

Berry, Hill Rated By Collier's

Rex Berry, flashy halfback, and Dick Hill, stalwart center, of the Brigham Young University football team were given honorable mention rating in Collier's Magazine sectional all-star selection.

Berry and Hill, along with Jim Lasseter of Utah and Eddie Talboom of Wyoming, were the only Skyline players given honorable mention in the far west section on a team that was dominated by Pacific Coast stars.

Meet Your University

"We are trying to build up the Division of Religion so as to have a nucleus of experts in each of the various religious fields," states Dr. Sydney B Sperry, director of Religious Instruction

The department of Bible and Modern Scripture has fared well, staffed with such men as Dr. Hugh Nibley, Mr Patch on the New Testament, and Mr Bartholomew on the Old Testament, headed by Dr Sperry by Dr. Sperry.

Bible and Modern Scripture should be familiar to every student on campus, especially underclassmen, since three of the five series courses offered freshmen and sophomores are in this department. The aim is to give the students spiritual backing, "not only to inform, but to convert," as Dr. Sperry declared.

Dr. Sperry's job, he feels, is to teach all the known facts about the Bible, Book of Mormon, Doctrine and Covenants, and the Pearl of Great Price, and to do all the research and writing he can on the subject. He seems to be fulfilling the latter part of his aims; already the author of a number of books, he is at present engaged in writing a new text on the Book of Mormon, an analytical study, in which he discusses each book separately.

Dr. Sydney B. Sperry

Dr Sperry was born in the fourth generation of the LDS Church in his family Educated in Salt Lake City, he came in contact with such men as B H Jacobs and Osborn Widtsoe His interests were then with chemistry and geology.

Mr. Sperry built his own crystal set and was one of the first to receive long distance radio messages on the 150 foot wire antenna he had strung between some poplar trees and his father's barn Also interested in telegraphy, he and some friends strung wires for two or three miles, and telegraphed messages back and forth

For a time he was a chemist in the U S Bureau of Mines

In World War I, he was stationed at Fort Knox, where he saw some of the first American tanks
